

Store Closes Daily at 5 P. M. Saturdays, 6 P. M.

Miller & Rhoads

Mail Orders Filled at Advertised Prices.

Blankets

25 Per Cent. Under Present Market Prices

BLANKETS that we'll buy for full delivery will cost us from a fourth to one-third more than our present supply did. We'd sooner sell every pair we have in stock at the old prices in August than to hold one Blanket over for the increased price next winter.

You'll save money by purchasing now and we'll get an increase in summer trade.

BEACON COTTON BLANKETS. 65x85 inches, light grey, tan and white. Look and feel like all wool; fancy borders; $2.50 value, $1.75.

WOOL-FILLED BLANKETS. 65x82 inches, white with pink or blue borders; $3.50 value, for $2.25 pair.

ALL-WOOL BABY BLANKETS. 45x63 inches, cut and bound; $5.25 value, $4 pair.

WHITE or SCARLET ALL-WOOL BLANKETS. 60x80 inches. The "American Beauty" Blanket; $5.50 value, for $4.75 pair.

ALL-WOOL GRAY BLANKETS. 65x82 inches, sanitary wool, $6 value, for $5.

Women's $9 Suits Now $5.98

YOU can use them for a couple of months yet. The values are equally as good as those that were placed on sale Monday morning.

Galatea Cloth Suits in the natural linen color; short Pony coat with strapped seams; full side-plaited skirt. Also, White Poplin Suits, in Pony and Eton styles.

In quality and style these Suits are up to the usual Miller & Rhoads standard. We need say no more other than the price is now $5.98, which means you're getting the best value at the price that will be offered this summer.

MAY ENJOIN THE
CHICAGO HOUSE

State Board of Education Called to Take Up Norfolk Matter.

AUTHORITIES ARE FAR APART

Koerner Receives More Immigrants—Officers Return
From Vacations.

The clash of authority between the State and Norfolk City School Boards over the matter of purchasing school desks has reached an acute stage, and it looks as if it is slowly but surely wending its way into the courts for final arbitrament.

The question of seeking an injunction restraining the A. H. Andrews Company, of Chicago, from furnishing desks to the local board is already in contemplation, and the State Board has been called to meet here to-morrow night to consider the question finally.

The Andrews Company seems to be using the Norfolk situation in order to get business from other local boards. Division superintendents in many sections are receiving communications from the Chicago concern, enclosing copies of the opinion of City Attorney Duncan, of Norfolk, along with letters containing this language:

"Are you willing to pay more than the market price for school desks? Will you allow the State Board of Education to dictate the style of school desks you are to buy and the price you shall pay, when you can buy the best desks in the world (the one made by the Andrews Company, as they claim) for less money?"

Conflict in Law.

It will be recalled that Attorney Duncan upheld the local board and declared it had undoubted authority to purchase school furniture for the city schools. To a layman there appears to be a good deal of conflict between the Constitution and the statute, as to which board has the authority to purchase these supplies.

The fourth subdivision of section 132 of the Constitution of Virginia provides that the State Board of Education "shall select textbooks and educational appliances for use in the public schools of the State," while the statute passed in pursuance of this provision authorizes the State Board "to select, purchase, books, school furniture and educational appliances for use in the public schools." It will be seen that the act of assembly thus authorizes the State Board to select school furniture, as well as textbooks and educational appliances. It is maintained by some that the provision of the statute that authorizes the State Board to select school furniture is in violation of section 136 of the Constitution, which provides that the district school taxes, out of which all school furniture must be purchased, must be apportioned and expended by the local school authorities in establishing and maintaining such schools as in their judgment the public welfare may require.

Was With Mr. Belvin.

In looking over the records it is discovered that the Virginia School Supply Company was chartered by the Corporation Commission on July 17th, and that the contract was awarded by the State Board on June 15th—over a month before the charter was granted. This is explained at the department, however, where it is said the contract is not with the Virginia School Supply Company, but with Preston Belvin, trading as the Virginia School Supply Company. The officers of the concern are Preston Belvin, president; H. D. Hatcher, vice-president; E. R. Belvin, director.

The meeting of the board to-morrow night will be a most important one, and it is expected that the Attorney General will be authorized to apply for a restraining order against the Andrews Company at once.

Uzzell Captured.

A telegram was received at the Governor's office yesterday announcing the capture of Uzzell, the negro editor at Onancock, who was one of the leaders among the blacks in the recent race riot on the Eastern Shore.

Uzzell was caught at Onley, which is but a mile from Onancock. The Governor had offered $150 reward for the capture of the obstreperous negro. He was rushed to Norfolk under guard, in order to prevent another outbreak between the races.

Commissioner George W. Koerner received seven more immigrants yesterday. They were mostly from Scotland, and will be sent to various sections of the State to-day and located with farmers. The commissioner is in receipt of a letter from his agent in Glasgow, Scotland, in which he says he will be unable to send any more immigrants for two months, as all the ships coming this way are booked up to that time. This is a busy season on all the lines, as so many Americans are now returning from abroad.

Officers Return.

Attorney-General William A. Anderson returned yesterday from Lexington, where he has been recuperating for a week or ten days. Major Anderson's much needed rest has greatly invigorated him, and he feels much better than when he left.

Mr. R. T. Wilson, secretary of the State Corporation Commission, has returned to his desk at the Capitol, after a vacation of two weeks spent at Buffalo Lithia Springs. Mr. Wilson fatteneth nine pounds while away, and is in fine health.

Corporation Commissioner Henry C. Stuart has returned from a brief visit to Southwest Virginia. While away Mr. Stuart made an address to the Farmers' Convention, which recently met in Roanoke.

Captain Willard is the only member of the commission who is absent at this time. He is in the Adirondacks for a short while, and is expected to return here on Tuesday.

Delegates Named.

Governor Swanson has named eight Virginians, who were former Tennesseeans, to represent this State at the "Home Coming" in Nashville, September 23-28.

The delegates are: John Landstreet, chairman; Richmond; Leland Rankin, chairman; John A. Mahoney, Jacob Bentley, Paul Delaney, Judge John W. Price, Bristol; Dr. R. G. Waterhouse, Emory; and Victor St. Clair Payne, of Imboden.

THREW ROCKS AT THE CONDUCTOR

Captain Guigon Says S. P. Poin-dexter's Offense Is Serious.

Charged with throwing a rock at Conductor J. O. Jones, of Clay Street car No. 233, S. P. Poindexter was yesterday morning sent to the grand jury from the Police Court. Robert Brooks, another negro, was fined $10 for interfering with the conductor when he put the other under arrest.

It seems that the two negroes were boisterous on the car, and when they refused to be less noisy at the request of the men, he put them of the car. As the car returned by the point where they had been put off, Poindexter threw a rock at the conductor, and passengers became much excited, and a lady on the car screamed. The negro threw a second rock, and ran several street car employees on the car. The negro was arrested, and was taken to the car shops at Vine and Main streets, from a patrol wagon was called. Policemen Palmer and Franklin came with the wagon, and both negroes were locked up in the Second Police Station.

Poindexter said in court yesterday morning that he was drunk and didn't know what he was doing. Captain Guigon, who represented the company, was very bitter in his arraignment, and stated that the negro should be regarded as a serious offense. He asked, if he were asked that the bond be fixed at $5,000. No application for bail was made.

Hard to quit
COFFEE?
Not if you use
POSTUM
FOOD COFFEE.
"There's a Reason"

BROOK TURNPIKE
IS DANGEROUS

So Declares Report of Viewers to County Board of Supervisors—
Barron Road Company,
which owned it, some time since, and
for more than two miles constructed
their main line up the centre of that thoroughfare. The Brook Road is the main approach to the city for the Ashland and beyond, bought the Brook
Turnpike from a private company,
which owned it, some time since, and
for more than two miles constructed
their main line up the centre of that thoroughfare. The Brook Road is the main approach to the city for the Ash-
land and beyond, bought the Brook
Turnpike from a private company,

The Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Railroad Company, which proposes to operate a line of electric cars from the land and beyond, bought the Brook Turnpike from a private company, which owned it, some time since, and for more than two miles constructed their main line up the centre of that thoroughfare. The Brook Road is the main approach to the city for the Ashland and beyond, bought the Brook Turnpike from a private company,

The high speed at which it is proposed to operate the new car line, as well as the actual damage to the road by the construction of the tracks, renders the road in the judgment of the viewers as unfit for further use by the county, and the viewers unanimously recommend the immediate opening of a new parallel road, to be operated without toll.

Strong Report.

The report of the viewers is signed by the three viewers—T. Crawford Redd, H. C. Beattie and L. W. Rymer. The report goes on to say: "The viewers found that the Brook Turnpike had been put in such condition by the construction of an electric railway that it is imperative that a new route to Richmond from Henrico county be constructed from the toll gate, near the Brook Hill estate, above the point where the electric railway leaves the Brook Turnpike."

"Your viewers found that Chamberlayne Avenue, as now constructed parallel to the Brook Turnpike for a considerable distance, is an appropriate route for the extension north to Norfolk Avenue and south to some point on the Brook Road to supply the routes needed."

The report then goes on to say: "For these reasons the viewers are of the opinion that the proposed extension of Chamberlayne Avenue north and south will fulfill the requirements of the case, and will not only meet the convenience of the public, but will in fact supply what is now a crying necessity."

viewers are of the opinion that while the road is one of public convenience, and should be opened by the county, that it is only proper to call upon the Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Railroad Company to bear the expense of making the change, as they have destroyed the only good approach to the city on that side."

Owners Donate Property.

Full plats of the proposed extension are filed with the report. A number of property owners have agreed to donate the land needed, most of which is on the property of N. W. Bowe and the Glinter estate, neither of which parties make any charge.

Those who charge for the land used are W. A. Hammett, F. Lauterback, M. L. Ruckell, J. W. McComb, Frick estate and R. L. Barnes, the amount claimed by these parties aggregating $3,948. It is thought that the road can be reopened and maintained for nine or ten thousand dollars.

No representative of the Chesapeake Bay Railroad Company was present at the meeting, but from former assurances it was believed that the new railway company would have a large part in the cost of the proposed improvement. All the interested land owners were summoned to appear before the board of supervisors at its September meeting, at which time the matter will be finally determined upon.

Extension to Barton Heights.

The supervisors also had before them the plot and survey for the opening of a new road connecting Barton Heights with the Brook Turnpike, and opening up a new section of the county. The new road will be fifty feet wide, and will leave the Brook Turnpike at the south end of the city, and run five-sixths of a mile through the property of Wickham and Bowe, who donate the land. It will run in a straight line and strike North Avenue, in Barton Heights, and then follow the line of the car line. All interested in the opening of this avenue are summoned to appear before the board on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the matter will be finally passed upon.

Westhampton Line.

The old question of running the Westhampton cars through to the end of the line was also brought to the attention of the board on complaint of various citizens, and a resolution was passed by the board directing the Commonwealth's attorney of the county to institute proceedings to compel the Westhampton Park Railroad Company to carry out its contract with the county of Henrico as to schedule, etc., and to recover damages for failure to live up to the contract. Mr. A. B. Guigon appeared for the car company.

Negro B. Y. P. U.

The Negro State Sunday-School and the great B. Y. P. U. convention of the Negro Baptist Convention of the World will convene in Lynchburg, Va., this afternoon. A large number of colored church-going people from all parts of the State.

The delegation that left here late last night was made up of A. J. Jones, president of the former negro Baptists of the State. Among them were Professors H. H. Peyton, R. H. Pauline, Dr. W. Graham and many others. Another crowd going to the same scene of action from here will leave here to-morrow night or to-morrow. The convention is expected to be exciting and vigorous.

PRESIDENT PRED FOR NEWS GATHERED
NOT WALKING OUT FROM SOUTHSIDE

Three Operators Suspended by Telegraphers' Union
Here.
ARE EXPELLED, SAYS HERVEY

Creed Haskins, president of the local Commercial Telegraphers' Union, has been expelled, along with W. B. Dabney and C. E. Sargeant, for refusal to go on a strike after the organization had voted to walk out on receipt of a general order from President Sylvester Small. The three operators are employed by brokers here.

When the brokers refused absolutely to sign the scale, and a report to that effect was submitted to the union, the "crucial" moment arrived for the three operators in question to decide whether they would do it. They declared that they had been well treated, they had no grievances, and they were not willing to neglect firm which had not neglected them heretofore.

"This being the case they asked for indefinite suspension, and there were several motions to the effect that they should remain in the order. President Haskins and his two associates were not willing to this, however, and finally a resolution was passed by which they were expelled."

"Suspended, But Expelled."

At one of the meetings yesterday afternoon friends of the former president objected to the newspaper accounts which stated that they had been expelled. The resolution contained the words "suspended," but C. S. Hervey, who was elected president of the local, declared that the action was paramount to expulsion. Last night he said that he would have the wording changed to-day to read "expelled."

The three operators, who were not wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

William Allen Now in Jail in Manchester—No Bail
Yet.

RIOT IS NARROWLY AVERTED

Negroes Assault Crew on Petersburg Electric Car—Mr. Harding Weds.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, Nov. 1103 Hull Street.

William M. Allen, former superintendent of Maury Cemetery and the Manchester City Almshouse, who has been arrested on a charge of beating a woman, is now confined in the Manchester jail, having been brought here yesterday morning from Philadelphia by Special Detective Charles J. Hull, of Baltimore.

Allen has secured the services of Ernest H. Wells, as his attorney, and he will make application for bail. Owing to the fact that Judge Clifton, of the Corporation Court, is out of the city the application will probably be brought before Judge Samuel W. H. Richmond, today. Judge Watson, of Chesterfield, is in Dinwiddie, holding court.

A reward of $100 had been offered by the city for Allen's capture and to this the State of Virginia added another $100. This liberal reward notwithstanding, the services of J. Hull, a private detective of Baltimore, who at once set out on Allen's trail. He traced his man from one city of Pennsylvania to another, and at one time located him in Harrisburg. Allen managed to escape this time, however, and for a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

They were not, however, wholly unexpected, for had been known for days that there was a wide difference of opinion in the ranks, and the apparent failure of the strikers to cripple the telegraph service to the extent that it would be a considerable period the day, rather discouraging to those who had sought to bring about that condition of affairs. Still, that was not the direct cause of the refusal of Messrs. Haskins, Sargeant and Dabney to quit.

33% Discount

Relates to our entire stock of mixed and fancy Suits for men, youths and boys—all the novelties—all the staples—and even a few blacks and blues.

95c

Buys the choice of Straw Hats worth up to $3.00.

Gans-Rady Company

SEND TRACER INTO
COUNCIL MORGUE

Buried Resolutions Must Come to Light for Good of City.

SEND TRACER INTO

Recommendations, Six Months
Old on Table—Going
After Them.

General complaint has been made heretofore regarding the slow method by which important resolutions are handled by committees and in Council, and while all of this may not be due primarily to any obstinate feeling on the part of members, it is a fact nevertheless that the business of the city departments suffers because of the small-like pace. Evidence of this came to the surface at the meeting of the Committee on Relief of the Poor held at the City Home Monday night.

Recommendations from the superintendent, all of which are urgent, have been "on the table" for months, it appearing that it is not the duty of any man in particular to look after their passage. An instance was cited by Dr. E. G. Williams, the cost of the home receives only $15 a month, and to get good results it was shown that this amount had to be increased. The baker receives $55. Months ago the committee recommended that the cook's wages be increased, but the matter has been hung up somewhere, and meanwhile the conditions are such that changes are imperative. The services of a good man cannot be secured at that price, and while there is no serious objection to the plan for paying more, the resolution has been shifted from one committee to another, and the effort to trace it is more difficult than the average man familiar with legislative methods would imagine.

Dr. Williams Offers Help.

At the request of Dr. Williams, Superintendent Davis was instructed to send a tracing committee of one and to appear before the proper body to urge the importance of immediate action. Dr. Williams said that he would be perfectly willing to assist Mr. Davis, and would appear with him before the committee, realizing that something had to be done to bring the ordinances to the point of enactment. Dr. Williams has taken an interest in the affairs of the City Home which has been decided value, and he has been working with the committee which are upon him as a member of the Common Council is very strong proof that the course heretofore followed is not a credit to the city of Richmond.

Some Matters Now Buried.

Some of the suggestions of Superintendent Davis, favorably received by the committee in charge, have been on the docket for more than six months. The superintendent said that it would be a pleasure to him to work for a speedy conclusion of the matter. Among the more important matters thus delayed is a request that an extra resident physician be employed at the Home, the present force not being sufficient to attend to the needs of the patients, now there. Extra nurses and a pharmacist are also badly needed, and Mr. Davis is anxious to have the regulations amended so that a table can be provided in the mess room for officers and men. The matter of colored patients has been urged, but has been buried somewhere with committees or in Council. There is also a resolution to require that an ambulance fee be charged for ambulance service when a dead animal is sent in from beyond the city limits and where patients are able to pay.

These charity patients, who are really not to be put in that class, keep the ambulance running day and night, and finally to the delay of the city. While the committee was sent to the Cedar Works section, being called there by a man who had broken one of his fingers.

Battered and Bruised.

George Turner Tells Pitiful Tale of Assault

Battered and bruised, so that his wife could hardly recognize him, George Turner (colored) walked into the Second Police Station last night, and between his swollen lips mumbled the words "Squire Furdie that he wanted a warrant for the arrest of his assailants."

Turner stated that he got off a car with Lizzie Wilson, and that when Henry Paschey saw him the latter mauld him one in the eye. Paschey followed with an uppercut, and then with a right-hand swing to the other eye. He then battered in both cheeks and finished up with the mouth and forehead, swelling the lips to unusual size and making a deep gash in his forehead. Little else took a hand in affairs, and she fastened her claws in George's hair, disarranging the man's parting, and the result was several big lumps. The warrant was issued, and the arrest will likely follow soon.

RICHMOND MAN
HIGHLY HONORED

Dr. Howard Lee MacBain Has Been Called to Washington University.

Dr. Howard Lee MacBain, who has recently been appointed instructor in political science in the new College of the Political Sciences, connected with the George Washington University, is expected to arrive in this city shortly from the Jamestown Exposition, where he has been lecturing in the educational convention recently held there.

Dr. MacBain, who has recently completed his graduate work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Columbia University, although born in Canada, comes of an old Virginia family. He received his early education in Richmond, and was a student in the University of Virginia from 1896 to 1901, receiving the degree of B. A. in 1901. From then until 1904 he was assistant principal of the Richmond High School. Since 1904 he has carried on his graduate work in the University of Virginia, and at Columbia University. Dr. MacBain received his master's degree from Columbia in 1905. He has lectured extensively on American constitutional history and theory, and is the author of "The Spoils System in the State of New York," which is about to be published, is regarded by the faculty of Columbia University as a remarkable piece of work.

Dr. MacBain comes to the George Washington University with the exceptionally strong recommendations of every member of the political science faculty at Columbia, and as a student that three large universities have tendered him positions upon their faculty, among these being the George Washington University. Dr. MacBain is preferred to the exceptional facilities offered there for work in political science.

REPUBLICANS WILL
NAME FULL TICKET

Decide to Run Candidates for Senate and House in Richmond.

The Republicans have again changed their plans with reference to legislative candidates in this city. In the field. Not long ago the idea of making the fight here was abandoned. The committee on nominations in this city was named to bring in recommendations by a number of Republicans, all of whom favored putting up a full ticket. After the business meeting, however, was held, and all those present enjoyed themselves.

It was resolved that the Republicans should make a great effort to carry the State next year, and that nominations should be made for the Legislature in all the districts in the city. The committee on nominations in this city will report to a meeting to be held prior to September 1st.

Among the Republicans present at the meeting were C. R. Moore, L. H. Drew, Joseph B. Stewart, Miles Williams, J. W. Sargeant, John S. Redwood, John E. Eggenheimer, Robert H. Curtis, Edgar Allan, Jr., Lane Lacy, C. B. Cary, W. Gay Smith, C. C. Meany, W. McKim, Harry A. Hanson, Joseph P. Brady and John M. Ryall.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Republican City Committee, and was presided over by Chairman C. Ridgway Moore.

Miss

Nannie

Williams,

of 807

Hull

Street;

Miss

Betty

Goode,

Miss

Nannie

Stallings

and

Mr.

Stanley

Traylor,

of

Richmond,

left

last night.

Mr.

Harding

will make their home

at 1130

Bainbridge

Street.

Miss

Nannie

Williams,

of 807

Hull

Street;

Miss

Betty